

Micro-Pulse Reading, an Innovation of Diagnosis

Holistic concept has been emphasised by Chinese Medicine practices. It is almost impossible to make diagnosis in an early state of a disease by Chinese medicine practitioners who have neglected the micro changes on the pulse picture, as the traditional pulse reading has been influenced by the holism.

Confusion of Chinese medicine diagnosis is more obvious when modern diagnostic equipments have been used which lead to comprehensive understanding of diseases. In fact, abnormality of an organ can be detected by micro pulse reading on Cunkou prior to its general symptoms. The early pulse abnormality could not be discovered because of the limitation the traditional pulse reading theory.

Dr Yue Yuan Xu has systematically researched the Chinese medicine pulse diagnosis with modern medicine theory for years. He claims that early change of an involved organ could be detected preciously with micro pulse reading. Value of the micro pulse reading is equivalent to that of a modern laboratory finding. It is much cheaper and more convenient than those equipments.

Dr Xu believes that Chinese medicine will have a bright future when the two factors are integrated, the micro pulse reading for early diagnosis of a disease and efficacy of Chinese medicine treatment.
